

Declaration of Consent

To the electronic publishing of a paper
via the publication service of the library of Paderborn University

Hereby I give the library of Paderborn University (UB) and the German national library in Frankfurt/Leipzig (DNB) and all other publicly accessible libraries within Germany and abroad the irrevocable right to save the paper with the following title to their servers and to provide it to the (academic) public (if necessary, converted into a different format).

I will note that:

- after the paper is published no further changes can be made to the document and the paper can no longer be recalled.
- the paper will be kept available in the data networks in its electronic format as long as this is reasonably possible within future technical development.

I confirm that the rights of any third parties will not be violated with the publication of this work

So far as images are used in this work, I hereby confirm that I own the rights to said images or that I have been given the permission/usage right to use these images. Any usage right or permission which is needed for the usage of these images (or other parts of this work) has been acquired. If a violation of the rights of any third party pertaining to the right to use any images becomes known, Paderborn University is exempted from any claims.
